Biblioball December 8 – Steve report

Biblioball report

Approximate attendance: 150-200. Attendance seemed lower than last year. A good time was had by all. It seemed like planning and advertising for this event occurred later than last year, could explain perceived lower attendance.

It was difficult to tell how many NJ librarians were in attendance. The ones that I recognized were all Rutgers related. Around a dozen Rutgers related people in attendance. I feel the vast majority of Biblioball attendees are from the boroughs. JP competed to be the “Postmaster General” of the ball, but lost to a jitterbugging librarian. I have some pictures to share once I’m able to download them.
